4. Conflict of Interest (COI) Disclosures

Research carried out in collaboration with industry may not only benefit society at large (public interest) by means of the results obtained from fulfilling academic and ethical responsibilities; benefits such as money, status, and rights (private interests) may also arise as a result of industrial collaboration. A situation in which these two interests both arise in an individual researcher is known as a conflict of interest (COI).

The Japanese Society of Pathology requires all presenters to declare their COI when making presentation. The slide formats of the disclosures are as follows.

For more detailed information, please refer to the Guideline for “Conflict of Interest Management for Medical Research and Related Reference Materials” at JSP website (<https://pathology.or.jp/side/coi-m.html>).
